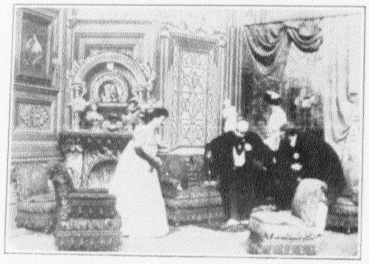
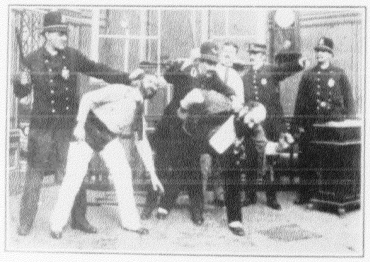
The Count of No Account.

Length, 545 Feet.





Two tramps find a newspaper wherein a spinster advertises for a husband. "Preferable a Count."

The tramps decide to become suitors for the hand of the rich old maid. They hold up two passers-by, strip them of their clothes and dress in fashionable attire.

They make their visit at the old spinster's residence. Being the first and only ones who apply they are received with open arms. They are dined and wined when at last jealousy prevails among them and the fight ensues. The old maid seeing the suitors are nothing but tramps chases them out of the house and puts the police at their heels.

Now follows one of the funniest chases ever seen in Moving Pictures. Unfortunately the two tramps in their flight drop through the sky-light direct into the court room which brings their royal aspirations to a sudden end.

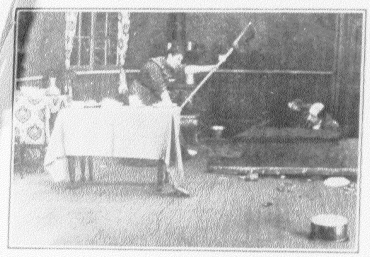
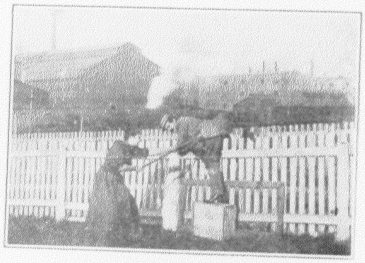
Where's That Quarter?

520

Length, [illegible] Feet





Saturday. Pay Day. A man comes home from work, his wife asks for his wages. He gives her the money but holds out a quarter which he says he spent for a treat. His wife, determined to get that quarter beats her husband with a broom. He conceals himself in a cupboard which is overthrown. Emerging from the wreck, he tries to run away but is followed by his wife. She follows him jumping over a fence. He falls over a baby coach and jumps in an empty trunk to escape his wife. When after many mishaps the trunk is brought to his home, his wife makes him don an apron and wash the dishes. She takes the bread dough and throws it in his face. This is too much for the hen-pecked husband and sorrowfully he produces the quarter which his wife takes from him.
